BARRE DAILY TIMES

Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts.; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1904.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,225

Summer is on the last lap of its course.

Really now, there isn't so much baseball enthusiasm in Barre and Montpelier as we had suspected.

Good luck to the militia boys of Vermont and may they come back bringing their laurels with them.

We commend the local Democrats for showing sound sense in cancelling all political "rallies" that were arranged or were in prospect.

There were two collisions in Burlington yesterday, one on the Central Vermont tracks and one at Athletic Park. Both were disastrous.

The frantic appeals of the spell-binders and newspapers are now merged in one grand chorus of exhortation. But be brave; it will soon be over.

The arrangements being made by the local Central Labor union for the annual observance of Labor Day on Monday promise the most successful thing in plonics ever held here—and Barre is long on plonics, too.

Gen. Apathy is being attacked along the whole political front in Vermont nowadays, but all attempts to turn either flank have been met with repulse. Meanwhile Gen. Apathy remains stolidly indifferent.

"The eyes of the whole country are on you here in Vermont." They haven't been able to stare Vermonters out of countenance yet; indeed, Vermonters return the stare with the fixity of countenance of a sphynx. It is the story state.

It, as reported, the Japanese generals at Liao Yang have succeeded in cutting off Gen. Kuropatkin's line of retreat on Mukden, then it's a case of fight, and fight hard, with "Pat." The Russian general's force is considerably smaller than the three combined armies that are attacking him.

Speaker Cannon told a Chicago reporter that he had a good time "in the woods and hills of the good old state and had a pleasant time generally." The people of Vermont are delighted that he had such a good time in their state, and they only wish that more might have had the opportunity to greet him.

With nearly a thousand people journeying from Rutland to Burlington to see an exhibition of the national game, there is really little wonder that politics can't thrive in Vermont this fall. The average political speaker would be most pleasantly surprised if he were faced by an audience of that size.

The world's fair at St. Louis is now said to be on a paying basis, and there is likelihood that the United States government will lose all of the several millions it loaned to the fair management. The government will consider itself very fortunate, however, if it gets back any considerable proportion of the "loan," since it is a late day for the receipts to begin to more than balance the expenditures.

The directors of the Barre Boys' club will lose no time in securing a man to succeed Mr. Barnes as superintendent of this important work, so that the plans may not be interrupted. The Boys' club is now one of the established institutions of the city and it would be a decided disadvantage if the work were allowed to suffer in the least. It is to be hoped that those who are assisting in the support of the club will respond when called upon and that others may become contributors to its support.

If the Democrats of Vermont and Maine are as well organized and aggressive as they are represented to be in some despatches, so much the better for the Republicans. When the Republicans of those states have anything to do it is their custom to do it.—Boston Transcript.

This bit of long range observation must cause a shiver to run down the spines of the Republican campaign management in Vermont. Whether Republicans will do it or not this year seems to be an open question just at present.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Caution.
Speak gently to the wealthy man.
Because his friends are few,
And if you're kind, why, then, perhaps,
He'll make a friend of you.
—Newark News.

Enigmatical.
"Does her hair curl naturally?"
"Well, her natural hair doesn't!"
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Matchless Beauty.
Her mamma tried to make the match;
She thought it her plain duty.
But soon she found her daughter was
A matchless kind of beauty.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

P. S. Grow of Bristol was 92 years old Monday. He is the oldest person in town. He walks about the village every day.

The dairy of John Graves of Waitsfield was tested last week and out of twenty-five head seventeen were found to be diseased and were slaughtered.

E. G. White of Cavendish took to the soldiers' home Monday a handsome live deer, three years old, which he had raised from a fawn. The animal is a present to the inmates of the home.

The conference of the managers of the northern district of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., was closed at Burlington Tuesday. This is the first conference held since the organization of the district eleven years ago.

Carl D. Knight, who was graduated from the Brattleboro high school in the class of 1890, and from the Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1903, has been given an appointment as instructor in the electrical department of the latter institution. Mr. Knight has been with the General Electric Co. of Schenectady, N. Y. He will begin his new duties at the opening of the school, Sept. 12.

James F. Hooker, president of the Vermont Republican League, says that from the reports he is receiving from the various clubs the league has established and of which there are about one hundred and fifty, that the majority for Bell at the election a week from today will exceed 25,000. Mr. Hooker said that he was confident that the vote would be much above this, but did not care to say for publication just what he thought it would be. The Republican league of the state, Mr. Hooker says, has done more and amounted to more than ever before, and it will bring out practically every Republican voter in the state.

Eating Snails.
The natives of Alaska have eating matches, at which great numbers of the villagers compete. The man who eats the most is considered the finest man.

Live Pearls.
It is said that the live lustrous pearl never dies.

Rubber Plants.
Rubber plants are said to be greatly benefited by an occasional dose of castor oil. It should be poured into a little trench around the stem and then covered with earth.
